MANY EXHIBITS ON BOARD

Health Talked by Dr. Freeman and Farming by Corps of Unequaled attendance was had at all the stops made by the special farmers' institute train run last week over the Norfolk and Western from Elkton, on the Shenandoah Valley division, to Eristol. The train was then taken over the Virginia and Southwestern to Blg Stone Gap, a stop being made at Gate City. The Norfolk and Western has now been reached again at Norton, for a trip over the Clinch Valley division to Bluefield, W. Va.

The following account of the meetings has been written for The Times-Dispatch from Norton by J. J. Owen, institute director for the Department of Agriculture:

higs has been written for The TimesDispatch from Norton by J. J. Owen, institute director for the Department of Agriculture:

The agricultural special train left Elkton, Va., on Tuesday, March 28, over the Norfolk and Western. The train was in charge of F. H. LaBaume, agricultural and industrial agent, and his assistant, E. A. Schubert. The Department of Agriculture was represented by Commissioner G. W. Koiner and Institute Director J. J. Owen. This was the best equipped train ever run over any road in Virginia, having two cars alled with exhibits, two passenger coaches and a private car, where those on board ate and slept. The hospitality of the railroad officials could not have been excelled. Nothing was left undone which could be done to make it pleasant for their guests.

Many Stops Made.

Stops were made at Elkton. Grottoes, Stuart's Draft, Glasgow, Troutville Shawsville, East Radford, Pulaski, Wytheville, Rural Retreat, Marlon and Abingdon.

Mr. Kolner and Mr. LaBaume made some excellent addresses. The former explained in a very clear and concise manner the work of his office, and how it could help the farmers, and he urged upon the farmers the importance of their sending into his office their names and addresses if they wished to receive the bulletins he was publishing each month. He also explained the advantages that would accrue to the farmers through the pure seed law. Everywhere his speeches were greatly appreciated and hundreds of farmers came to the cars and wanted to meet him.

Mr. LaBaume urged a more hearty co-operation between the farmers and or Mann that he had recommended to Goochland county, be given up in greater measure to the raising of stock. The Governor believes that this course would make the property far more productive of actual returns than it has been in the past.

Major James D. Patton, of the board said last evening that the body has the Governor's suggestions under consideration, but that no action had as yet been taken. He thinks the board regards the proposition favorably, and that it is not improbable that more stock will soon be placed there. Major Patton said it was impracticable to convert the property immediately into a stock farm, as that would consume considerable time.

The Governor has always taken a great deal of interest in the State farm, where are kept those convicts whose health is impaired. He makes frequent trips to the place. He believes that stock-raising would be the financial solution of the farm's operation, and that it would pay handsome returns to the State if properly managed with pure-bred cattle.

According to the calculations of the executive, each blooded cow should produce not less than $,000 gallons of milk a year, or say, $00 pounds of cheese, worth 15 cents a pound. This would make the annual yield per head $120, and with 300 cows the estimated returns would be $36,000, which Governor Mann thinks conservative.

But in addition, there would be the calves to be considered, which, he estimates, would put the average cash yield per cow up to about $160. Of course, the proposition would cost some money in the way of stock and the installation of machinery, which would be matters for consideration later.
